LAY IN AMBUSH.

"Tinlad" Gunboats Ran Into a Nest of Insurgents Concealed in the Brush.

Americans Opened With Their Rapid-Fire Guns, Filling the Jungle With a Hail of Shot—Twenty Natives Killed and Several Wounded Before Retreating.

MANILA, May 15.—The "tinlad" gunboats Laguna de Bay and Cavendish and a launch under Capt. Grant, ran into a nest of insurgents concealed in the brush and on both sides of the Rio Grande river, three miles above Calumpit, Saturday afternoon, and were received with heavy volleys at short range. A sergeant belonging to the Utah battery was killed and one private was wounded.

Opening with their rapid-fire guns, the Americans killed 20 natives and wounded several others, filling the jungle with a hail of shot for half an hour until the enemy fled.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The following dispatch from Maj. Gen. Otis, giving the status of the military situation as it now exists in the operations against the insurgents, was received at the war department Sunday:

"MANILA, May 14.—Adjutant General, Washington: Situation is as follows: Lawton, from Baling, has taken Ildefonso and San Miguel to north with slight loss and driving considerable force of enemy; gunboats and canoes accompany 1,500 men under Kobbe up Rio Grande river from Calumpit, depart 10th. MacArthur remains at San Fernando, covering country. * * * Yesterday messenger from Aguinaldo expressing wish to send commission to Manila for conference with United States commission to arrange terms of peace; directions given to pass body representative insurgents to Manila should it present itself. (Signed) Otis."

DEWEY'S HOMEWARD TRIP.

He Will Start in a Few Days and Will Sail Leisurely, Stopping at Mediterranean Ports for Rest.

MANILA, May 15.—Adm. Dewey will leave for the United States as soon as he can arrange his business here and give full instructions for the management of the fleet to his successor. The United States cruiser Olympia, upon which Adm. Dewey will make the voyage home, will sail a leisurely trip, stopping at Mediterranean ports for some time to give the admiral, the officers of the ship and the crew an opportunity for rest. Like all the Olympia's company, Adm. Dewey is much run down by his long stay in a tropical port without change and under the rigid conditions incident to a war footing.

All are delighted at the prospect of returning home. The officers have had little shore leave, and have been obliged always to be on shipboard by sundown. The crew have had still less leave, and show the effects of a year spent upon a hot ship under an enervating sun.

The Olympia will proceed from Manila to Hong Kong, where a fortnight will be spent in transforming the mud color which she was painted to white, having up to this time been unable to comply with the department's order to take on white paint. At Hong Kong the cruiser will be coaled and provisioned for her further journey.

Adm. Dewey expects to retain his position on the United States Philippine commission.

THEY FOUGHT TO THE DEATH

One Man Killed, Another Mortally Wounded, and a Negro Standing in Range Shot Through the Neck.

MOUNT VERNON, Ga., May 15.—At Hancock's Mill, six miles north of this place, a battle to the death was fought between John Letter on one side and James Morris and George McLeod on the other, apparently without provocation. John Letter was killed, George McLeod mortally wounded, and Tom Yewmans, a Negro standing in range, dangerously shot through the neck. Jim Morris, who is reported to have fired the shot that killed Letter, escaped without a scratch. The shooting took place in Hancock's store which at the time of the shooting was filled with mill hands, and customers, and it seemed a miracle that no one else was hurt. Letter, the man killed, was manager of Hancock's mill. McLeod belonged to one of the leading families of the county and is a cousin of Morris who did the killing.

ADM. GEO. DEWEY

He Has Permission to Start for Home Any Moment He Chooses.

New York Will Likely Be His Landing Place—The Great Admiral Will Be at Home in Time to Attend 4th of July Celebration.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—"Send Olympia's mail to B. F. Stevens, No. 4 Trafalgar Square, London, Eng." was the notice given out at the navy department Friday. This is the first formal indication that the famous flagship is coming home immediately.

Upon inquiry it was ascertained that Secretary Long has cabled Adm. Dewey permission to return at once to the United States. He has been relieved of the obligation of remaining at Manila until the Philippine commission completes its work. He is not even required to await the cessation of hostilities, but may start homeward at once. The notice posted at the navy department indicates that the Olympia will not remain long enough to receive the next outward mail. Mr. Stevens, referred to, is the navy department's agent at London to distribute all of the mail of the war ships in European waters, so he will see to it that the Olympia receives hers as soon as she passes the Suez canal.

It is estimated at the navy department that Dewey will reach the United States in time for a national demonstration on the 4th of July next. The Olympia will not come under full steam, but, nevertheless, she should make the run to New York in about 55 days from Manila. That she is to come to New York is nearly certain, as shown by the following response made by Secretary Long to the urgent message of invitation to Dewey from Mayor Van Wyck, of New York. It may be stated that this was sent before the notice was sent to Dewey that he might come home at once:

"NAVY DEPT. WASHINGTON, May 11. "Sir—I am in receipt of your telegram with regard to the return of Adm. Dewey, and expressing a desire that he arrive first in the country at New York. The time of his return has not been fixed and the department has taken no other action than to authorize his return whenever the condition of the peace commission shall permit. As to the route he shall take in returning, the department is inclined to leave that to him. He has served with great ability, and must necessarily so much feel the effect of his arduous labors in a trying climate, and under trying circumstances, that the department is disposed to let him govern himself in this respect largely by the consideration of his own personal convenience and wish. It is understood, however, that Adm. Dewey will elect to return to New York.

Very respectfully,
JOHN D. LONG, Secretary.
"Hon. Robert A. Van Wyck, Mayor of the city of New York."

WILL SAIL NEXT TUESDAY.

Adm. Watson Leaves San Francisco for Manila—Capt. Barker in Command After Dewey's Departure.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Adm. Watson will sail from San Francisco next Tuesday as a passenger on one of the regular Pacific mail steamships, but can not possibly reach Manila before the middle of June. Orders have been issued placing A. S. Barker in command of the Asiatic squadron after Adm. Dewey's departure until relieved by R. Adm. Watson. Capt. Barker is now in command of the battle ship Oregon and next to Adm. Dewey is the senior officer of the station. He is an officer of ability and discretion, has served as assistant chief of the bureau of navigation.

TIMBERS HURLED IN THE AIR

Powder Building at Kings' Mills Completely Demolished—No Employees On the Place at the Time.

KING'S MILLS, O., May 15.—With a terrific explosion that hurled timbers into the air, filled the atmosphere with flying debris and shook the country for six miles around, the pulverizing and glazing buildings of the King's smokeless powder plant at this place were completely demolished Friday morning at 6:30.

There were no employees in the plant at the time, but many were on their way for the day's work, and had the explosion occurred half an hour later, many lives would have been sacrificed. As it was, two employees were within 100 feet of the factory when the explosion took place. They were stunned by the awful concussion, but escaped injury. Houses, in the vicinity were shaken almost from their foundations, not a whole window was left in the neighborhood, and other buildings of the great plant were damaged somewhat.

The explosion originated in the glazing mill, near the river road, about 200 yards east of the bridge, and was the result of a fire that can not be explained. It was an old frame structure, about ten feet square, and contained two barrels of smokeless powder. Another building, a little to the west, was destroyed by the resulting fire, and a third was badly shattered from the explosion. The buildings will be replaced within two days.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. The three men who were so close to the mills when the explosion came went on duty early and were supposed to start the machinery in the different buildings. They were the last employees at the works Thursday night, but are unable to give any cause. The loss is about $2,500.

TWO TRAINS COME TOGETHER

The Southwestern Limited Run Into by Pan-American Express in the Yards at Utica, N. Y., Saturday.

UTICA, N. Y., May 15.—At 2:35 Saturday morning New York Central train No. 33, the Southwestern limited, while in the yard in this city was run into by Pan-American express train No. 31, resulting in the destruction of a Wagner, an express car and the engine of the latter train. The wreck caught fire, but was extinguished by the local department. Harry Neat, of Buffalo, assistant superintendent of the Wagner Co., was so badly hurt that he may die. He is at a hospital. No one else was hurt.

HE WANTS REST AND QUIET.

Adm. Dewey Declines the Invitation of Chicago to Become Its Guest on His Return to the United States.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Judging from a cablegram received Friday from Adm. Dewey his health, despite medical assurance to the contrary, is none of the best, and to this fact is due his probable return by way of the Suez canal instead of the Pacific coast route. The message is as follows: "Illinois Manufacturers' Association, Chicago: Many thanks. Impossible to accept invitation now. Condition of health necessitates rest and quiet. "Dewey."

The cablegram was in reply to one sent by the association asking the admiral to become its guest upon his return to this country, and strongly urging upon him the advisability of coming by way of San Francisco and across the continent.

TRUCE WANTED.

Request Comes Direct From Aguinaldo Through an Aide From Gen. Pilar.

It Will Confer With the Philippine Commission Appointed by President McKinley—Gen. Otis Says He Has No Objection to Parley.

MANILA, May 15.—The Filipinos have resumed the attempt to induce the Americans to discuss the situation. Reyes, a young lieutenant on the staff of Gen. Gregorio del Pilar, came to Gen. Lawton Saturday under a flag of truce. He was accompanied by a barefooted bugler. The two were escorted to Manila by Capt. Sewell, of Gen. Lawton's staff. Reyes told Maj. Gen. Otis that Aguinaldo desired passes for a military commission to come to Manila to confer with the American-Philippine commissioners. Gen. Otis replied that passes would not be necessary, as unarmed commissioners could enter the American lines. He would leave the matter, he said, in Gen. Lawton's hands. Lieut. Reyes returned Saturday evening to Bacolor.

MANILA, May 14.—Aguinaldo has issued orders that all foreigners must leave insurgent territory within 48 hours. There are only a few commercial men there, mostly English and German.

Aguinaldo believes that by refusing them the rights of non-combatants he can force their governments to recognize the belligerency of his so-called government, in order that they may treat for the safety of their subjects.

A Filipino priest, who had talked with the Tagal General Treas, has brought to Father McKinnon, chaplain of the 1st California regiment, a copy of a letter written by Aguinaldo to the General Treas, asking his opinion as to the advisability of surrendering, saying: "I fear that the long warfare that will be necessary to conquer the United States will drain the country's resources too much."

Mr. Holmes, a Canadian subject, who, with his partner in the sugar manufacturing business at Calumpit, Mr. Carrick, an American, was recently captured by the Filipinos, reports that he was informed by his captors that he might leave whenever he wished to do so. He refused to go unless Carrick was permitted to accompany him, and said: "We go or stay together."

The curtain will go down in a few days on the fighting in the island of Luzon. Workingmen are preparing for another act in the drama which will necessarily disperse the Filipinos. The rebels are so close to San Fernando as to make life in that place uncomfortable while they remain in their present position. The armies of the United States have advanced so far that the question of transportation has become the great problem. To solve it, engineers are repairing the Bagbag bridge so that it will be safe for the passage of trains and give railroad connection between Manila and San Fernando. In the meantime supplies shipped to Calumpit have to be hauled 15 miles to Maj. Gen. MacArthur, at San Fernando, and 20 miles to Maj. Gen. Lawton, at Bacolor, by bullock carts, and every cart has to be ferried separately on a raft across the Rio Grande two or three times. The roads are rough, and after the daily showers, which are forerunners of the rainy season, so soft that it is impossible to make more than a mile an hour. The few mules that are here have been found to be greatly superior to bullocks for this work. The latter die unless they are given frequent baths, and the heat killed so many that carting is now all done by night.

MANILA, May 15.—The civilian members of the United States Philippine commission are favorable to the meeting with a Filipino commission which was suggested on Saturday on behalf of Aguinaldo by Lieut. Reyes, of the staff of Gen. Gregorio del Pilar, who came to Gen. Lawton under a flag of truce, bearing the proposal. It is thought by the American commissioners that the idea may have resulted from a recent meeting of the so-called Filipino congress at San Isidor. Definite information on this point, however, can not yet be obtained, though the local Filipino committee which is in close communication with the leaders of the rebellion is doing its utmost to secure peace.

A LAKE DISASTER

Schooner Nelson Founders Off Grand Marais Island—Lives Lost.

The Schooner Became Unmanageable, Threw Her Stern Into the Air and Dove Straight for Bottom—the Sank in 300 Feet of Water.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., May 15.—The schooner Nelson, deeply laden with a cargo of coal, foundered in Lake Superior, off Grand Marais, Saturday evening, and carried down all hands. So far as known here only one man, Capt. Haghney, escaped from this, the first disaster of the season. The crew consisted of the following:

Capt. Andrew Haghney, of Toledo; captain's wife; two-year-old child of Capt. Haghney; Fred Hawes, sailor, residence unknown; six sailors, names unknown.

The Nelson, which is owned by the Mitchell Transportation Co., of Bay City, was in tow of the steamer A. Folsom, which also had the schooner Mary B. Mitchell as a consort. The Folsom and Mitchell turned back and arrived here Sunday afternoon without serious damage. Capt. E. A. White, master of the steamer, at once reported the disaster to the owners.

The Folsom and Mitchell and Nelson were laden with coal. At the time of the disaster the wind was blowing a gale of 50 miles an hour and freezing hard. The three boats were being coated with ice, and this added to their peril, when they were in the low in the water. Seas broke aboard constantly and the force of the gale was driving them toward the beach.

The beach at Grand Marais was but seven lengths under the lee of the boats and Capt. White determined to try the dangerous expedient of turning the tow in the sea and running before the wind for White Fish point. Before the turn was finished the Nelson was seen to turn toward the shore and it became evident that the line had parted under the strain or had been cut. Soon it became apparent that she was sinking. There was no chance of rendering any assistance however. In a few minutes the Nelson threw her stern into the air and dove straight for the bottom. Where she sank there is 300 feet of water. The crew had no time to even lower their yawl boat, which hung on the davits at the stern.

REFUSED TO BUY THE DRINKS

A School Janitor, While in a Saloon in Chicago, Struck a Fatal Blow by One of His Companions.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Henry Reitz, a janitor at the Jefferson school, Elburn avenue and Laflin street, refused to buy drinks with two men whom he met in a saloon Sunday, and a short time later he was struck a fatal blow by one of his companions. He was found unconscious by two policemen and died in a few minutes without making any statement.

Reitz was the father of Henry P. Reitz, second baseman of the Pittsburgh ball club, and Edward R. Reitz, second baseman of the Sacramento, Cal., ball club.

Whitsitt, whose resignation was accepted after a long and bitter struggle, Thursday evening. The election of Dr. Greene is considered a victory for the Whitsitt faction. Dr. J. H. F. Kerfoot was considered the candidate of the anti-Whitsitt faction, but he withdrew his name, as did also Dr. J. R. Sampey, a professor of the seminary.

An Absurd Rumor.

Mr. Cleveland is alive and very well indeed. When informed of the rumors of his death he was much provoked and said: "It is simply absurd." He turned around and walked into the club house.

500,000 FAMILIES RELY ON PE-RU-NA.

Mr. W. H. B. Williams, Columbus, O. W. H. B. Williams, publisher of The Farmers' Industrial Union, in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman says: "I have used Pe-ru-na as a family medicine for several years. I find it of especial use for myself. I have had several tedious spells with systematic catarrh and before using Pe-ru-na I had tried several other remedies with little or no success. But in Pe-ru-na I found a prompt and sure cure. I always keep the remedy which promptly relieves any attack of the same malady."

"My wife also uses Pe-ru-na. She finds it of especial use for severe spells, to which she is subject. We always keep it in the house as a family medicine. We think it an excellent remedy for the various ills to which children are subject, especially climatic diseases. Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, for a free book on family medicine."

AN END TO ALL TOILING.

There's an end to all toiling some day—sweet day!
But it's weary, the waiting, weary!
There's a harbor somewhere in a peaceful bay.
Where the sails will be furled and the ship will stay
At anchor—somewhere in the far away—
But it's weary, the waiting, weary!
There's an end to the troubles of souls oppressed,
But it's weary, the waiting, weary!
Some time in the future when God thinks best
He'll lay us tenderly down to rest,
And roses'll bloom from the thorns in the breast—
But it's weary, the waiting, weary!
There's an end to the world with its stormy frown,
But it's weary, the waiting, weary!
There's a light somewhere that no cares can drown,
And where life's sad burdens are all laid down,
A crown, thank God! for each cross a crown
But it's weary, the waiting, weary!

SYNOPSIS.

Master Ardiek, just reached his majority and thrown upon his own resources, after stating his case to one Houthwick, a ship-rigger, is shipped as second mate on the Industry, bound for Havana. Mr. Tym, the supercargo, describes a sail. The strange vessel gives chase, but is disabled by the Industry's guns. In the fray Capt. Houthwick and one of the crew are killed, but the Industry is found to be little damaged. Sellinger, first mate, takes charge and puts into Sidmouth to secure a new mate. Several days later, when well out to sea, an English merchantman is met, whose captain has a letter addressed to Houthwick. Hope, at Havana. The crew of the vessel tell strange tales of the buccaner Morgan, who is sailing under the king's commission to take Panama. One night a little later, the English vessel having proceeded on her course, a bit of paper is slipped into Ardiek's hand by one of the sailors. This is found to be a warning of a mutiny plot headed by Pradey, the new mate. Ardiek consults Mr. Tym. They resolve to secure the mate, but Pradey, eavesdropping in the cabin, makes through the door and arouses the crew. Capt. Sellinger joins Ardiek and Tym. The crew break through the now barricaded door, but are forced to retire, having lost seven of their number. Finding themselves now too short-handed to manage the boat, Pradey decides to scuttle and desert the vessel, taking his men off in the only available boat. The captain, supercargo and second mate soon discover their plight, but hastily constructing a raft, bet away just before their vessel sinks. The next morning a Spanish draws near them. The man in the rigging shouts: "If you would board us, take to your oars. Be speedy, or you will fall short." On board they are sent forward with their crew, being told they will be sold as slaves on reaching Panama. The ship's cook they find to be Mac Ivrah, "frae Clagvarloch," so a friend. Four days later the Spaniard is overhauled by a buccaner flying the English flag. The three Englishmen and Mac Ivrah plan to escape to the buccaner on a ruse. Sellinger, the last to attempt to leave the Spaniard, is disabled. Just after the others put off they see a figure dangling from the yard arm, whom they suppose is Capt. Sellinger. Hailing the buccaner, out three friends find themselves in the hands of their old mate, Pradey. He treats them kindly and offers to do them no harm if they will but remain quiet concerning the mutiny he headed. The Black Eagle, Pradey's ship, comes to Chagre, Cuba, where they find Morgan and his taken under the English flag. From her the Black Eagle with Morgan's fleet proceeds to Panama. The command consists of about 1,200 men having landed, they march on to the city. The assault on the city is begun. Many of the buccaners are killed. Ardiek is wounded. Through the smoke he sees Pradey approaching. The city at last falls. Ardiek, coming to, finds Tym had rescued him from Pradey's murderous hand by killing the villain.

At daybreak the trumpets were blown, and the companies assembled under their respective leaders. Breakfast was hastily eaten, no delays being made for cookery, but all taken cold, and shortly the word was given to march. A little before this we had learned that Morgan's plan was to proceed first to the governor's castle, making a stern show of warlike force on the way, and there Morgan himself would remain, keeping with him 50 men, and the rest were to scatter and plunder and ravage at will. Certain rules, however, were to be observed, one being that all must deposit their spoil in the hall of the castle, where it should remain till the final decision; another was that prisoners—that is, slaves—were to remain the property of those who seized them. If, nevertheless, it was added, any desired to bring their slaves to the castle, having a mind to sell them there, they could do so, and such slaves should be guarded and cared for till their disposal.

The sun was creeping up and the breeze had fallen when at last we caught step and set forward down the chief street of the city. The drums were beating spiritedly and the trumpets sounded thrilling blasts, and with our soldierly array, the headpieces, cuirasses and musket barrels flashing in the sun, I thought we presented a fine and altogether awing spectacle.

The place was deathly quiet. Every house was closed, and as far as we could see down the street not a person was in sight. Still we traveled along, and at last, just as I was wondering at the extent of this part of the city, the street ended, and we broke out into a considerable square, or plaza. Here the buildings were large and of more pretentious sort than any we had yet seen. All were of stone, some of a brown or reddish color, and some of common stone well set in red cement, but few were above three stories in height. The roofs of all were flat, and most had low parapets, on which stood pots of bright flowers or handsome shrubs, and the walls of some were nearly covered with climbing greenery. Like the street we had left, the plaza was completely deserted, the shutters of every building around being up.

"Hoots!" said Mac Ivrah, in a low tone, "but they hae secreted ilka dog and cat as well as theirsels. I wad be wishing for bit stir o' some sort. Sic stillness no seems canny."

This I conceive pretty well expressed the feelings of us all, who felt a kind of oppression in the continued silence. Morgan had halted a moment, but presently had us forward again, and without any interruption or change in the appearance of things we continued on till we reached the castle. This was a considerable stone structure, standing on the top of a little plateau, and was defended by high walls and one strong tower.

It looked as though this were an excellent place for a mine or other device, but I was speedily told that this fear was unfounded, for the place had been entered and the chief rooms explored, but nothing in the nature of a trap had been found. The keys had been given to Morgan, and the guns spiked.

We were but a moment in entering, and while one of the captains, at Morgan's command, went up to haul down the Spanish flag and put our own in its place, the different companies were formed up in their order, and the last words of advice and command given. Among other things, all were bidden to be sparing of the wine till it was proven that it was not poisoned, to return to the castle at nightfall, and to hasten thither at once if two successive cannon shots were fired. These were to mean some sudden or imminent danger.

All this being attended to, the companies, save the picked detail to remain with Morgan, broke ranks and shortly quitted the castle.

"There to be removed from the horrors we must see here?" I answered. "I am favorable to it."

"And I," said Mac Ivrah.

But the words were scarce out of his mouth when a man came running out of the opening of the neighbor street and on seeing us pulled up short. "Saunt's and angels defend us!" cried Mac Ivrah, fairly staggering back. "The gaist o' the captain!"

For, indeed, the man appeared to be no other than Capt. Sellinger.

CHAPTER XV.

OF THE CONCLUSION OF OUR GREAT SURPRISE AND WHAT FOLLOWED AT THE HEELS OF IT.

Even Mr. Tym changed color, and for my part my legs grew weak and my heart thumped like a falling hammer. "Why, friends, don't ye know me? Do ye take me for a ghost?"

It was the same old hearty, searog voice that we knew so well. It was no spirit, but the man's mortal self!

Mr. Tym was the first to pull himself together. He rushed forward, and with a little cry of gladness seized Sellinger by both hands and danced the strong skipper about. I was next, and could scarce keep back the tears as I gripped the big brown hands. Even Mac Ivrah grinned like a merry-andrew and cut one step of a caper as he took his turn.

"But, man," cried Mr. Tym, as we at last released the skipper and stood delightedly about him, "how can this be? Did we not see you hanged? Aye, dangling your length from the yard-arm of the Pilana? Why, we made out the very white shirt you have on—surely the only one among the crew!"

The captain first gave a stare of astonishment and incredulity, and then broke into a low whistle.

"Aye, aye, I see how it was. It was the boatwain, Pedillo. Marry, I never thought of your taking him for me! You see the old governor conceived the notion that the fellow was more responsible than anybody else for our little break, and so dand him up to the yard. I believe one of the priests gave him a shirt, or frock, to be turned off in, and so that was where you got your white tog. Aye, aye, I understand the thing now."

And so, of course, did we, and it was simple enough, to be sure.

He asked a question or two in turn, which we answered, and then I went on to inquire how the Spaniards used him after our escape.

"Why, not so bad," he answered. "My wound was attended to, and then I was clapped in the brig. When the ship reached Chagre I was set upon the midships of a mule and brought here. Since then I have lived in the house of—Faith! but that reminds me. I have run at my best speed hither, not alone to sail in your company, but because of another matter of urgency. Will you come along with me and make no stay for questions?"

"Surely!" cried Mr. Tym, without hesitation.

And Mac Ivrah and I said the same. "Then this way."

He turned, and set off up the same street he had emerged from. I had, of course, noticed his dress and other appearance, ere this, and found that he looked and was habited as formerly. He was armed now, however, being girded with a belt, to which was hung a short hook pistol and a Spanish hanger.

We fetched up at a high stone wall, which I perceived must set off a considerable estate. A little way along this wall was a strong iron gate, the top defended by sharp spikes. The captain plucked a key out of his pocket, with which he unlocked this gate, and, urging us all in before him, hastily locked it again. I now perceived that we were in an extensive garden, fruit and shade trees standing thickly about and the walks bordered with flowers. A little way in the rear I could partly make out a handsome, low stone house. The captain hurried us up the main walk, making no concealment now of speed, and at a fair run we brought up before the door of the house. I perceived then that the place was strong as well as handsome, the building being of some yellowish stone set off with a cage fashion of balconies in the Spanish style. The chief entrance was directly before us, a step leading up to it, and I noticed that the door was a very strong affair and in height and bigness was sufficient for a little church. The captain knocked sharply twice, when the door was slowly opened and an old negro put out his head.

"All's well, Tonto. These are the friends I went to seek."

The old fellow looked at us a little suspiciously, I thought, but without objection stood aside.

"These quarters," said the captain, turning to us, "belong to Don Enrique de Cavodilla. You recall him, I think."

We readily did so, for he was one of the grandees of the Pilana.

"Well," went on the captain, "he is—or has been—my master, and, having seen very well, I am somewhat beholden to him. Yet even more I would do a good turn to his wife, Dona Isabella, and to his niece, Senorita Carmen. You see now the reason of my hurry."

"Surely," said Mr. Tym, "and we will gladly help you." Mac Ivrah and I also heartily assented.

"I am free to say I know not how the thing is to be managed," said the captain, sinking his tones a little, "but that we will immediately consider. We must first consult the don."

As he spoke a door shut and a man came out at the head of the stairs. Even in the dim light I recognized him at once as the old Spaniard.

He was a tall, spare, erect man, with plenty of gray in his beard and hair, but in bearing still in his strength and prime. He was dressed in the sad-colored velvet of the ship, with the ruffles and other finery.

"Go on, Ardiek, and tell him how matters stand," said Sellinger; "I am still without a hold on the rascally Spaniard."

"Sir," I said accordingly, stepping to the foot of the stairs, "Capt. Sellinger is here and has brought with him the friends he went out to seek."

"God be praised!" cried the old Hidalgo with the deepest heartiness. "Sancta Maria, senor! I never heard sweeter words. Ascend, ascend, you and your friends!"

I briefly translated the don's speech, and with the captain in the lead we mounted the stairs.

The old man met us at the top and somewhat to my discomposure kissed each of us in turn.

"You will save us!" he cried. "You will deliver my wife and the poor child!"

"You will deliver my wife and the poor child."

My life is of little worth, but they—Ah, come with me, senores, and assure these poor creatures that you will succor them!"

"Lead on, senor," I said, not a little touched. "Be assured we will do what we can." He lost no more time, but led us hastily to a rear chamber, where he threw open the door. Two ladies were within, who quickly rose.

The shutters of the windows were open, for the room looked out on an enclosed court, and the bright sunlight, checked merely by the draperies, brought out everything clearly.

I immediately recognized Dona Isabella. She was small and slight, with a proud, handsome face, but a faded skin, and was richly dressed with many bright ribbons and ornaments. Dona Carmen was, as I instantly perceived, passing beautiful. Something tall and yet of such proportions that she scarce seemed so, she all but startled me with the unusual combination of yellow hair, great Spanish black eyes—I mean those with the wonderful long lashes—a skin Saxon-fair, nose, mouth and chin delicate and in exact harmony, and an expression vivacious and to appearance intelligent.

Don Enrique now flourished us forward.

"Isabella, and you, poor Carmen, here are the brave English friends of Capt. Giles," he said. "Take heart and thank the Virgin, for they have come to deliver us!"

Each lady in turn dropped a stately Spanish courtesy, and with more resolution than I had looked for, though, to be sure, unthinkingly, thanked us.

"Well, what is to be done?" said I. The captain looked at Mr. Tym, and the latter, after a moment's hesitation, said:

"Let us first understand our bearings, captain. What are the private ways out of this place?"

"By the gardens," answered Sellinger. "And rearward through a court to a narrow street. Thence it is a straight course to the water."

"These gardens border upon what?"

"Considerable streets."

"And the ships and boats have all been taken, and our fellows will have an eye upon the water front," said Mr. Tym, shaking his head. "That will not do."

We were silent for a bit, I racking my brains to hit upon something, when he suddenly resumed: "I have a thought. What is to prevent us from claiming these people as our slaves? That will be but one each, which must be safe enough."

I thought he had hit it, and began to say that nothing could be better.

But the captain shook his head. "I fear it will not serve," he said. "You must know that Don Enrique and the ladies were yesterday chased and well-nigh captured by a party of buccaners, and I cannot doubt that the same fellows would know them again. Doubtless they would claim them, under the usual freebooters' rule."

"Why, yes," admitted Mr. Tym, reluctantly, "since such are the facts."

My hopes were suddenly dashed, and I sighed with disappointment.

"But why sell these callants see them?" put in Mac Ivrah. "Can we no hide them awa'?"

"With difficulty," said Mr. Tym. "It might be managed here, but when it came to the march all must come out. Moreover, I doubt whether any place or house would be suffered to remain barred against searching parties. It would be thought some trick was going on, such as plunder hidden away."

"Then," said the captain, "I see but one course to steer. They must fly. The question is whither?"

A COUNT'S VISION.

Remarkable Instance of Telepathy Perception—Foretelling a Tragedy.

I can vouch for the truth of the following interesting case of clairvoyance: On August 12 a young man named Livio Cibrario, belonging to one of the most ancient families of Turin, while attempting to climb the peak of Roccamelone, in the Maritime Alps, lost his way, and on the following morning a search party found his body, terribly crushed and bruised, at the bottom of a deep crevasse.

Count Cibrario, the unfortunate young man's father, who was at Turin, and knew nothing of his son's expedition to the Roccamelone, on the night of the accident aroused the rest of the family, announcing with tears that Livio, he said, had seen him distinctly, he said, blood flowing from his battered head, and had heard these words spoken in a voice of terrible anguish:

"Father, I slipped down a precipice and broke my head, and I am dead quite dead."

The other members of the family, tried in vain to persuade the poor count that the ghastly vision was nothing but a nightmare, and the bereaved father continued in a state of anxiety bordering upon distraction till the morning, when the official confirmation of the terrible accident reached him.

This case of telepathy, or whatever name may be given to similar phenomena, is considered all the more remarkable as Count Cibrario is a very quiet, matter-of-fact person, and has never suffered from disorders of the nervous system or dabbled in spiritism.—Rome Cor. London Mail.

Injustice.

"What did you assault him for?"

"He called me a lobster, your honor."

"Called you a lobster, did he? What is your business?"

"I've got an alley cleaning contract, your honor."

"In this ward?"

"Yes, your honor."

"That's sufficient. I know how the alleys are cleaned in this ward. The lobster, my friend, is a scavenger of the sea, but he is a good scavenger. You are a scavenger on land and a mighty poor one. The lobster is the one to complain of the comparison, and the fine for striking this boy for calling you a lobster will be five dollars and costs. Next!"—Chicago Tribune.

The Pope and the King.

It is not probable that the following from the letter of an American in the early '50s is entirely authentic: "At sunset we reached Gaeta. This place abounds in historical interest, and it is here that the pope found refuge when he fled from the republic in 1849. Among the stories of the place is one to the effect that the pope and the king of Naples, who had come to visit him in exile, went on board an American man-of-war. The commander welcomed them in these terms: 'Pope, how are you? King, how d'ye do? Here Lieut. Jones, you speak French, parley-vous with the pope while king and I go down and take a drink. King, come on.'—Chicago Chronicle.

Why They All Bowed.

At an ancient church at Valsbol, in Russia, it has been customary for the congregation to turn to a blank wall and bow reverently before leaving the church. Why they did this nobody knew except that their forefathers had done so, and had handed down the custom. In making some repairs recently the origin of the custom was discovered, for beneath many layers of whitewash and paint a picture was found of the Virgin Mary, which must have stood out brilliantly on the wall five or six centuries ago.

'Tis False.

"Woman's crowning glory is her hair," he quoted.

"Not now," returned his pessimistic friend.

"What do you mean?" he demanded.

"In many cases now woman's crowning glory is some other woman's hair," answered his pessimistic friend; and before the optimist could indignantly deny the assertion he noticed some of it advertised in the paper he was reading and wisely held his peace.—Chicago Post.

WOMEN IN TROUBLE.

The Approach of Motherhood is the Occasion of Much Anxiety to All.

Every woman dreads the ordeal through which she must pass in becoming a mother. The pain and suffering which is in store for her is a source of constant anxiety, fear and dread, to say nothing of the danger which the coming incident entails. The joyous anticipations with which she looks forward to baby's coming gives way to an indescribable dread of the ordeal when she fully realizes the critical and trying event which will soon approach and have to be endured.

Women should baul with delight a remedy which insures to them immunity from the pain, suffering and danger incidental to child-bearing. Such a remedy is now offered, and women need not fear longer the hour of childbirth. "Mother's Friend"—is a scientific liniment—and if used before confinement, gently and surely prepares the body for the great requirements and changes it is undergoing, insures safety to both mother and child, and takes her through the event with comparative ease and comfort. This wonderful remedy is praised by every woman who has used it.

What woman is not interested in "Mother's Friend?" This wonderful remedy has been tested and its priceless value proven by the experience of thousands of happy mothers who have used it during the most critical period of woman's life—the approach and culmination of motherhood.

It has won their everlasting praise, for it gave them help and hope in their most trying hour and when most needed. Every woman may some day need "Mother's Friend." The little book, "Before Baby is Born," telling all about it, and when it should be used, will prove of great interest and benefit to all expectant mothers, and will be sent free to any address upon application to the Bradfield Regulator Company, Atlanta, Ga.

Mother's advice is worth more than the advice of any other woman to the daughter who is perplexed by the problems of physical health and comfort. There's no need therefore to "write to a woman," who is a stranger.

There may, however, be need for a physician's advice to supplement the advice of the mother. In such a case the offer of free consultation by letter, made by Dr. Pierce, opens the way to health, and at the same time avoids the unpleasant questionings, the repulsive examinations and offensive local treatments which less experienced physicians often insist on.

Any sick or ailing woman is invited to write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, in the strictest privacy. Each letter is held as a sacred confidence and its answer is sent in a plain envelope, bearing no printing upon it.

Do not be misled by advertisements offering "medical advice," which are published by those who not being physicians are not qualified to give such advice. Any physician or doctor who has a legal and professional right to the title will publicly claim that title. Those who offer "medical advice" and invite you to "write to a woman" do not claim that the woman is a doctor. The "medical advice" of an unprofessional woman is just as dangerous as the "medical advice" of an unprofessional man. In more than thirty years Dr. Pierce and his staff of nearly a score of medical specialists, have successfully treated over half a million women. You can write without fear as without fee to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Riley Plunging In England.

RILEY GRANNON, the Paris plunger, is astonishing the British turfites by betting a fortune like it was a bagatelle. A cablegram to the New York World about Thursday's racing at Newmarket says: "While Tod Sloan was doing his part on the track his admirers were backing him like men possessed in the ring. First among these was Riley Grannon, the Kentucky plunger. Grannon started off by winning a neat sum on Florio Rabbattino in the first race, bet the entire amount for the second and was more than $100,000 winner when the odds for the Breeder's Plate, the third race, were posted.

"Grannon stuck to Sloan throughout the day and must have lost a fair-sized sum on Tod's losing mounts. Some estimate his losses in the latter part of the afternoon at about $75,000 and Charles Dwyer's at $25,000. Grannon is believed to have won more than $200,000 on the first three races, so he doubtless won about $125,000 on the day.

"The manner in which Grannon bets fabulous sums literally on the turning of a hair and never betrays the least excitement or nervousness is puzzling to the average British turf follower."

A cablegram to the New York Sun said that Grannon lost $150,000 on Desmond in the last race of the day.

Another cablegram from London says: "C. F. Dwyer, son of Michael F. Dwyer, and Riley Grannon, Tod Sloan's backers, will return to the United States immediately. The former is homesick, and the latter is leaving on account of the publicity which the newspaper's have given his affairs, and which, he says, ruins his business. Grannon is reported to have lost $12,000 on Thursday at Newmarket."

THE Sunday Enquirer printed a good half-tone likeness of Mrs. W. A. Johnson, of this city, as a noted authority on cookery, and printed her recipe for strawberry shortcake. Cut the others in halves and mix with a cup and a half of sugar. Set in a warm place for an hour or two. Make a soft dough of two cups of sifted flour, three full teaspoonsful of baking powder, one third cup of butter, one egg, three fourths of a cup of sweet milk, one half teaspoonful of salt. Divide the dough and roll into two pieces to fit a round pan. Spread the layers with softened butter, place one on top of the other and baked 15 minutes. When done pull the layers apart and put in layer of sweetened berries between and another on top. Sever in a round platter with whipped cream and fresh berries. A border of fresh strawberry leaves around the edges adds to the appearance of the dish."

MICHIGAN FIEND.

He Shot Six Persons, and Wife, Uncle and Grandmother Were Killed.

His Wound May Prove Fatal—When the Murderer Attacked His Wife She Was Sitting Up With the Remains of Her Mother.

HOWARD CITY, Mich., May 12.—Jos. Harvey Wednesday night killed his wife, his uncle, Robert Pierson, and his grandmother, and mortally wounded his three months' old child and his father-in-law, John Logenslayer, and finally shot himself, inflicting a wound which is expected to prove fatal.

Harvey's uncle and grandmother live a mile north of town. The murderer went there Wednesday evening. He asserts that Pierson, his uncle, was quarreling with his grandmother, and that he interfered; that whereupon Pierson stabbed and killed the old lady, aged 70, and that he (Harvey) retaliated by shooting his uncle. After shooting Pierson, Harvey stabbed him three times.

Harvey then returned to his home, two miles southwest of town. Arriving there he shot his wife twice, killing her. He then fired at his three-months-old baby, the ball going into its arm. Next Harvey entered his father-in-law's room and shot him twice, inflicting, however, no fatal injury. He then turned the revolver on himself, shooting himself in the neck. Harvey's wife when attacked, was sitting up with the remains of her mother, who died Wednesday.

The Pierson home presents a horrible appearance. Pierson's body was found in a chair and that of the old lady on the floor clad only in night dress. There are signs of a desperate struggle between Harvey and his grandmother, but no indication of a fight between the two men.

Harvey himself Thursday informed the sheriff of the murders at Pierson's house. He was then arrested for murdering his wife. He has nothing to say about the tragedies at his own home. There are strong threats of lynching.

It transpires that Harvey, on reaching the home of his late mother-in-law, said nothing about his terrible acts at Pierson's house. He offered to sit up by the corpse of his wife's mother. Accordingly, the others retired. It was 4 o'clock Thursday morning when Harvey went to his wife's room and killed her, and attempted to slay his baby and his father-in-law. He also fired at Miss Labard, a teacher who boarded in the house, but without effect. Harvey's wound is serious, but he is certain to recover. He was employed in a furniture factory and is only 20 years of age. The cause of his terrible act has not been determined.

Freight Handlers' Strike.

The Situation at Buffalo Assuming a Serious Aspect—They Demand An Increase of Wages.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 12.—The strike among the members of the Freight Handlers union at this port is gradually assuming a serious aspect. There are about 2,000 of those men pledged not to work for any contractor and many of these men are now on a strike. Originally a few of them went out in sympathy with the grain shovellers and Thursday night it was believed that in case the shovellers gain their point they will remain out until their difficulties have been satisfactorily settled.

At the Lehigh Valley docks the company called in a lot of yardmen and other employees to take the place of the strikers. At the Central, Erie and other big docks the work was practically at a standstill, the few freight handlers who were at work being non-union men.

The freight handlers demand an increase of wages from 25 cents an hour, the present rate, to 30 cents an hour for working outside of the freight houses, and 20 an hour for inside work. They also ask for the abolition of the contract system.

Jumped From the Sixth Story Window.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 12.—Thursday night a woman committed suicide at the sanitarium by jumping out of a sixth story window. She was terribly mangled. Death was instantaneous. The sanitarium officials refuse to divulge the woman's name. It is rumored that she is a prominent Chicago woman.

Murder and Suicide.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 12.—George Hinkley, a barber employed in the Plankinton house shop, shot Miss Bertha Kruege and then killed himself Thursday afternoon. The tragedy is the result of a love affair. A corset steel deflected the first bullet and the girl escaped with nothing more serious than a flesh wound.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Adm. Dewey has notified the navy department that he would start for home within the next few days. Should nothing delay him, this makes the probable time of his arrival the early part of July.

FAILED TO FLAG THE TRAIN.

A Collision on the Philadelphia & Reading Road—Many Persons Were Killed and Injured.

READING, Pa., May 13.—A collision of passenger trains occurred on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad at Exeter, about six miles south of this city Friday night and a great number of people were killed and injured. There is no telegraph office at Exeter and details therefore are difficult to obtain at this writing. The number killed is variously stated to be from 15 to 25. Fully 50 others are injured.

The regular express train from Pottsville for Philadelphia is connected at the station in Reading with a train from Harrisburg, which was crowded with excursionists, who had been to the state capital to witness the ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of the Hartranft monument.

Many of the Harrisburg passengers at Reading went aboard the Philadelphia express, but it being found that all could not be accommodated it was decided to send an extra train to Philadelphia to run as the second section of the express. The extra train left 20 minutes later than the express. At Exeter the express stopped for orders and while standing still the extra train crashed into it while moving at great speed.

Three of the rear cars of the express were telescoped and the first car of the extra train was also wrecked. The passengers in these cars were terribly mangled, many being killed outright, while others had limbs and bodies maimed. Word was at once sent to Reading and a special train with physicians and nurses was sent to the scene as quickly as it could possibly be put in readiness.

Exeter is a flag station and has no telephone communication. It is stated that the passengers on the second train were mostly from Morristown, and that several from the borough were killed and many injured.

United States Senator Boies Penrose and Gen. E. Burd Grubb were passengers on the wrecked train. The rear end of the car in which they were riding was crushed and the two gentlemen, though badly shaken up, were uninjured. Senator Penrose did not know how many of the passengers of the rear cars were killed or injured, but said when the train left the scene those needing attention were being cared for by physicians and residents of the neighborhood.

He said he learned that several were killed and many badly injured, but as to the number he could not say. A few of those whose injuries were slight came on the train to Philadelphia, but the train left soon after the accident and the more seriously injured were left at the scene and were to be sent to Reading.

The second relief train left Exeter at 2:50 a. m. Saturday. It brought to Reading 20 additional bodies. The names are not yet known. Most of the seriously injured were brought here on the first relief train. The rest of the injured were taken to Pottsville and Morristown.

The northbound track has been cleared and the first train through to this city from Philadelphia was the Buffalo express which left Philadelphia at 11:30 p. m.

EX-GOV. R. P. FLOWER DEAD.

He Became Ill in the Eastport Country Club, Eastport, L. I., and Died Within a Few Hours of Heart Failure.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Former Gov. Roswell P. Flower died Friday night at 10:30 at the Eastport Country club, at Eastport, L. I. Mr. Flower was taken ill early in the day with a severe attack of acute indigestion. In the afternoon symptoms of heart failure supervened and he grew steadily worse until the time of his death. The attack of heart failure was accompanied by a fainting spell and Mr. Flower's family in New York city were quickly notified. Mrs. Flower and the former governor's nephew, Frederick S. Flower, accompanied by Dr. Thomas H. Allen, Mr. Flower's physician, left at once on a special train for Eastport. When they arrived there Mr. Flower had somewhat recovered but Friday night the attack of heart failure was marked and Mr. Flower became unconscious an hour or more before his death.

THE FILIPINOS AGAIN ROUTED

Gen. Lawton Attacked the Rebels Behind Strong Fortifications at San Ildefonso and Drove Them Out.

NEW YORK, May 13.—A dispatch to the Herald from Manila says: The Filipino forces which were entrenched behind strong fortifications at San Ildefonso, north of Balingag, were driven from their position by Gen. Lawton. One American was wounded.

Mme. Adelina Patti's affection for her parrots is well known. She had one favorite bird, "Cooky," who always had to have a light left burning in his room at night, as he had a curious trick of falling off his perch when asleep. He could not see in the dark and consequently was unable to find his way back on to his perch, hence he was accommodated with a night light.

Agrettes with pear-shaped pearls suspended from the tips and fillets with heart-shaped centers studded with diamonds are among the latest designs.

"I wish to pay you for five cakes," said a traveler to a railway restaurant keeper.

"But you had only four—a sponge cake, a coconut cake, an almond cake and a currant cake."

"And a stomach-ache," added the traveler.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Brevet Deacon.

"And you have made Jim Jackson a deacon in your church?"

"Yes, sah. Dat is, he's a brevet deacon, sah."

"And what's a brevet deacon, George?"

"He's a deacon dat don't handle no money, sah."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Everybody In.

"The government advertises," remarked Jason, "that it will require 45,000 employees to take the new census, and applications for appointment are coming in at the rate of 11,499 a day."

"So I see. Awful cute way of the government, that, to take the census!"—Puck.

A Reflection.

We denounce grammatical errors With much emphasis and vim; But we're pleased to hear the crowd, when We're approaching, cry: "That's him!"

The Place for Talking.

Mrs. Upton—Well, she isn't. I met her at a musicale yesterday, and she hardly had a word to say.—Brooklyn Life.

He Didn't Talk Shop.

Mother—Did you meet many strangers at the reception? Daughter—Only one, a sea captain, and he made me very tired. Mother—Did he talk shop? Daughter—No; he talked ship.—N. Y. Weekly.

With a Mental Reservation.

"When I went over to France I couldn't make anybody understand me, and yet my French teacher had told me I spoke the language like a native."

His Prize.

Business Is Business.

Butcher's Boy—Tomson's cat has just caught a big rat down our cellar. Butcher—Charge Tomson five cents for cat meat. We can't afford to feed his cat for nothing.—Boston Transcript.

France's New President.

President Loubet, the new president of France, is, if anything, calmer, sane, a trifle bourgeois and utterly devoid of sense of self-importance. But there is a strong and irresistible will behind his bland face, and he looks like a man who would infuse into run-down French politics as much vigor and new life as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will into the rundown system of anyone who uses it. It is an absolute cure for the worst of all stomach disorders.

A Card of Thanks.

To the Editor—I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to the following named persons for the assistance rendered me in the death of my husband: Officers Brown, Loftus and O'Donnell, who helped get the carriages in line at the funeral; John Gorman, who watched the corpse; Adolph Simmon, of Simmon & Norrby, who was especially noticeable while singing "All Coons Look Alike to Me" at the wake; and to Nick Wentz, for serving lunch to the mourners during their bereavement. Those men shall never be forgotten for their kindness. Mrs. Sarah Ann Wells, nee Murphy.—Penny Press.

What "Kalsomines" Are.

"Kalsomines" are cheap temporary preparations manufactured from chalks, clays, whitening, etc., and are stuck on the walls with decaying animal glue. They bear no comparison with Alabastine, which is a cement that goes through a process of setting, and hardens with age. Consumers, in buying Alabastine, should see that the goods are in packages and properly labeled. Nothing else is "just as good" as Alabastine. The claims of new imitations are absurd on their face. They cannot offer the test of time for durability.

Then She Felt Relieved.

"I felt sure the hero was going to be killed," she said, in describing the serial story to her best friend, "until I happened to think that the author was paid so much a word, and probably would not want to spoil a good thing."—Chicago Post.

WOMEN are assailed at every turn by troubles peculiar to their sex. Every mysterious ache or pain is a symptom. These distressing sensations will keep on coming unless properly treated.

The history of neglect is written in the worn faces and wasted figures of nine-tenths of our women, every one of whom may receive the invaluable advice of Mrs. Pinkham, without charge, by writing to her at Lynn, Mass.

MISS LULA EVANS, of Parkersburg, Iowa, writes of her recovery as follows:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I had been a constant sufferer for nearly three years. Had inflammation of the womb, leucorrhoea, heart trouble, bearing-down pains, backache, headache, ached all over, and at times could hardly stand on my feet."

My heart trouble was so bad that some nights I was compelled to sit up in bed or get up and walk the floor, for it seemed as though I should smother. More than once I have been obliged to have the doctor visit me in the middle of the night. I was also very nervous and fretful. I was utterly discouraged. One day I thought I would write and see if you could do anything for me. I followed your advice and now I feel like a new woman. All those dreadful troubles I have no more, and I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash a sure cure for leucorrhoea. I am very thankful for your good advice and medicine."

Foot-Ease Trade-Mark Sustained.

Justice Laughlin, in Supreme Court, Buffalo, has ordered a permanent injunction, with costs, and a full accounting of sales, to issue against Paul B. Hudson, manufacturer of "Dr. Clark's Foot Powder," and also against a retail dealer of Brooklyn, restraining them from making or selling Dr. Clark's Foot Powder, which is declared, in the decision of the Court, an imitation and infringement of "Foot-Ease," the powder for tired, aching feet to shake in your shoes, now so largely advertised and sold all over the country. Allen S. Olmsted, of Le Roy, N. Y., is the owner of the trade-mark "Foot-Ease," and he is the first individual who ever advertised a foot powder extensively. He will send a sample free to any one who writes him for it. The decision in this case upholds his trade-mark and renders all parties liable who fraudulently attempt to profit by the extensive "Foot-Ease" advertising, in placing upon the market a spurious and similar appearing preparation, labeled and put up in envelopes and boxes like Foot-Ease. Similar suits will be brought against others who are now infringing on the Foot-Ease trade-mark and common law rights.

Helped by a Tip.

"I don't see how it happens that you get the start of your business rivals so often," said the man to the prosperous undertaker. "Why, you must have nearly double the trade of any of the others."

"Guess I do," said the man of caskets, frankly, "guess I do. Of course, mum is the word, but the fact is, Dr. Cutter always gives me the tip when he's going to dig for appendicitis—and I'm invariably the first man to apply for the job!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

S. S. S. GOES TO THE BOTTOM.

Promptly Reaches the Seat of all Blood Diseases and Cures the Worst Cases.

In every test made S. S. S. easily demonstrates its superiority over other blood remedies. It matters not how obstinate the case, nor what other treatment or remedies have failed, S. S. S. always promptly reaches and cures any disease where the blood is in any way involved. Everyone who has had experience with blood diseases knows that there are no ailments or troubles so obstinate and difficult to cure. Very few remedies claim to cure such real, deep-seated blood diseases as S. S. S. cures, and none can offer such incontrovertible evidence of merit. S. S. S. is not merely a tonic—it is a cure! It goes down to the very seat of all blood diseases, and gets at the foundation of the very worst cases, and routs the poison from the system. It does not, like other remedies, dry up the poison and hide it from view temporarily, only to break forth again more violently than ever; S. S. S. forces out every trace of taint, and rids the system of it forever.

Mrs. T. W. Lee, Montgomery, Ala., writes: "Some years ago I was inoculated with poison by a nurse who infected my babe with blood taint. I was covered with sores and ulcers from head to foot, and in my great extremity I prayed to die. Several prominent physicians treated me, but all to no purpose. The mercury and potash which they gave me seemed to add fuel to the awful flame which was devouring me. I was advised by friends who had seen wonderful cures made by it, to try Swift's Specific. I improved from the start, as the medicine seemed to go direct to the cause of the trouble and force the poison out. Twenty bottles cured me completely." Swift's Specific—

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

—is the only remedy that is guaranteed purely vegetable, and contains no mercury, potash, arsenic, or any other mineral or chemical. It never fails to cure Cancer, Eczema, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, Tetters, Boils, Carbuncles, Sores, etc.
